psychology reinforcement is a consequence applied that will strengthen an organism's future behavior whenever that behavior is preceded by a specific antecedent stimulus. This strengthening effect may be measured as a higher frequency of behavior, e.g., pulling a lever more frequently or longer duration, e.g., pulling a lever for longer periods of time. As of Feb 13, 2023, it is important to note that not all reinforcers are created equal; some people may respond well to one type of reinforcer but not to another. It is also worth noting that some behaviors may be reinforced by both positive and negative reinforcement, depending on the individual. Ferguson, 2016.
